

Robert Mulhall granted regulatory approval as Managing Director of AIB UK

12th March 2020

Robert Mulhall has been granted approval by the PRA and FCA (UK Regulatory Authorities) as Managing Director for AIB's business in the U.K. and Northern Ireland. He will formally take up his position this week.

AIB GB is a corporate and commercial bank, focusing on hospitality, energy, infrastructure, manufacturing and professional services sectors. AIB is a full retail bank in Northern Ireland, having recently rebranded from First Trust Bank to AIB NI.

Prior to this appointment Robert was AIB's Managing Director of Consumer Banking in the Republic of Ireland. He moved to the US in 2013 to become a Managing Director for Accenture in North America, returning to the bank in 2015.

AIB Chief Executive Colin Hunt said, "Robert will lead AIB's business in the UK with the challenges that Brexit brings, and determine the bank's future shape in its main market beyond Ireland. He has a proven track record in ensuring that the business prioritises customers' financial needs and requirements and will continue as a member of the bank's executive committee."

Brendan O'Connor will be leaving AIB later this year to pursue other opportunities.
